2026 Legislative Session Capital Update – Week 3
January 30, 2026

Week three of the legislative session concluded with behind-the-scenes work on preliminary budget proposals, bills moving (or not moving) through the legislative process, and thousands of visitors filling the halls of the Capitol.

Appropriations subcommittees are expected to release their initial budget proposals next week, offering a glimpse at how the Senate and House will initially line-up their respective budget priorities. Committee meeting agendas stayed busy but not packed, perhaps foreshadowing a legislative session where fewer bills ultimately pass. Meanwhile, the Capitol was packed with advocates representing all aspects of Florida for Agricultural Day, Hospital Day, Space Day, 4-H Day, Dental Hygienist Day, PTA Day, Planners Day, and dozens more.

Senate Committee passes Medical Freedom Bill

The Senate Health Policy Committee approved SB 1756 – Medical Freedom, sponsored by Sen. Clay Yarborough (R-Jacksonville), by a 6–4 vote. The bill provides a statutory nonmedical exemption from immunization requirements for a child attending a K-12 school if the administration of a vaccine conflicts with the parent’s conscience and authorizes pharmacists to provide ivermectin as a behind the counter medication without a prescription to adults. The committee adopted an amendment by Sen. Gayle Harrell (R-Stuart) granting immunity to healthcare practitioners who prescribe or administer ivermectin to adults in good faith. A second Harrell amendment, which would have required a physician or APRN consultation for parents seeking a conscience-based vaccine exemption, was rejected amid concerns about government overreach. Senators raised questions about the lack of required education for parents opting out of vaccines, protections for immunocompromised students and staff, insurance coverage for vaccinations, and the content of educational materials to be developed by the Boards of Medicine and Osteopathic Medicine under Department of Health oversight. Public testimony was almost unanimously opposed to the bill, especially from medical organizations including the Florida Academy of Family Physicians (FAFP President Dr. Daniell Cater testifying), public health groups, and parent organizations, citing risks to public health, herd immunity, and increased opt-outs. The Christian Family Coalition of Florida was the only public representative supporting the legislation. In debate, opponents argued the bill weakens public health protections, while supporters likened conscience-based exemptions to religious exemptions. SB 1756 now moves to the Senate Appropriations Committee.

First Lady Casey DeSantis Roundtable – Vaccine Discrimination

First Lady Casey DeSantis convened a roundtable with Surgeon General Joseph Ladapo and Florida moms to discuss the Florida Healthy First Initiative, with a focus on vaccine discrimination. The conversation emphasized the importance of transparency and accountability across Florida’s food supply, and the need to extend those same principles to other decisions parents make about their children’s health and well-being. First Lady DeSantis stated that parents deserve clear information about the benefits, risks, implications, and data related to vaccines and should never fear discrimination for the choices they make for their families. The four participating moms shared their own stories of vaccine discrimination and instances where informed consent was lacking. The

First Lady closed by stating that moms should be empowered by the truth to make the best decisions for their families and reaffirmed her work to ensure that no family is discriminated against based on vaccine status. Video / Florida Politics Article

Implications of the Federal One Big Beautiful Bill Act discussed this week

On Wednesday the Senate Finance and Tax Committee reported that the One Big Beautiful Bill Act (OBBBA) enacted by Congress in 2025 could cut state corporate tax collections by an estimated $3.5 billion. The Committee heard a presentation from the staff director on the new general revenue forecast. In addition to the $3.5 billion projected decrease, Senate Appropriation Committee Chairman Ed Hooper (R-Palm Harbor) said at the meeting that the budget must also address $1 billion in extra Medicaid costs and possible cuts related to property tax reform. Plans for addressing the shortfalls are now being considered in the appropriations process. “We’re going to pass a balanced budget, and it will be less dollars than the current budget year and that is all I can assure you of” Hooper reported to the committee.
