

Privacy Policy

The Florida Academy of Family Physicians ("FAFP") respects your privacy. All personal information that is provided to the FAFP is stored in a secure database and is restricted to designated FAFP staff who have a "need to know" such information. The FAFP will not disclose, give, sell, or transfer your personal information to any other company or organization for any purpose, except in the course of providing FAFP services to you or unless required by law.

Marketing

The FAFP may use your personal information, such as your e-mail address, to inform you of upcoming events or new services offered by the FAFP which we believe may be of interest to you based on the information you have provided us. We send three distinct categories of e-mails: FAFP marketing e-mails, for upcoming events, contain our contact information at the bottom of the message. Confirmation e-mails are automatically generated as a result of an activity registration or self-study materials order, and will be sent regardless of opt-out status. Reminder e-mails are only sent to CME/CE activity registrants who have not previously opted out of our marketing e-mails. You may request at any time that we change or remove your information by sending an e-mail to dwalker@fafp.org

Security

For the purposes of website security and to ensure that our service remains available to all users, the FAFP utilizes certain software programs to monitor website traffic and to identify unauthorized attempts to upload or change information on our website or to otherwise damage it. The FAFP may use information from these sources to help identify an individual if required for law enforcement purposes or otherwise by law.

ACCME Compliance

This Privacy and Confidentiality Policy complies with Accreditation Council for Continuing Medical Education ("ACCME") Policy 2002-A-11 as well as other continuing education accreditation requirements.
